

INI Power Systems named one of the top 50

MORRISVILLE, N.C.-- INI Power Systems, Inc. (INI), the developer of methanol-powered Laminar Flow Fuel Cell (LFFC[®]) systems, was recently named to the TechJournalSouth's Inaugural Tech 50, an annual list of some of the most innovative technology firms in the Southeast region.

The inaugural list looks at tech firms of the new millennium, focusing on some of the most innovative and promising tech firms launched in the Southeast since 2000: http://www.techjournalssouth.com/news/article.html?item_id=3250.